Tomb Raider 2013 Game Free Download For PC Full Crack..The present invention relates to electrical connector assemblies for multiconductor optical fiber cables and, more particularly, to a novel connector assembly that includes features for achieving positive engagement of the connector assembly to the cable and which includes novel means for maintaining optical connection between the connector assembly and the fiber optic cable. Cable assemblies are commonly utilized in data communications systems in which a number of signal conductors are terminated to corresponding terminals of the connector assembly. The terminals of the connector assembly are secured to the ends of the cables. Such connector assemblies may be incorporated into the backplane of a computer and into the blade or other circuitry associated with the computer. In these situations, the cable is terminated to the connector assembly by terminating the cable to the backplane or circuitry of the blade. The connector assembly may be terminated to the cable by various processes. For example, mass termination methods may be utilized in which clips, screws, or the like, engage the connector assembly to the cable. In situations where the termination needs to be made with precision, a manual precision termination procedure may be utilized. In situations where the termination is to be made automatically, an external termination method may be utilized in which the cable is terminated to a clip, screw, or the like, which is then incorporated into the connector assembly. Various connector assemblies are known in the connector art. For example, the article, "Fiber Optic Connector With Rubber Cup Retaining Member for Permitting Lens Cleaning", Ser. No. 07/650,382, filed Feb. 26, 1991, in the names of Anderegg et al., and assigned to the same assignee as this application, discloses a connector assembly with a retaining member for retaining a fiber optic lens in engagement with the connector. The present invention is directed to improvements in cable assemblies in general and, in particular, to cable assemblies that are designed for use with multiconductor optical fiber cables. Various multiconductor optical fiber cable assemblies are known. U.S. Pat. No. 4,538,589, to A. F. Mann, et al. discloses a connector assembly having a socket that has an array of resilient, laterally extending fingers. The fingers of the socket are inserted into complementary apertures formed in the body of the cable and then partially bend to engage the cable. The socket is 3e33713323
