chronic exposure to ethanol, glucose, insulin, and ascorbic acid on glucose tolerance were examined in piglets. Acute exposure to ascorbic acid and insulin, but not ethanol and glucose, produced an improvement in glucose tolerance, while exposure to these drugs alone had no effect. Chronic exposure to ethanol and insulin produced an improvement in glucose tolerance. The effect of chronic exposure to ascorbic acid was not tested. The results were consistent with the view that the benefit of the ethanol and insulin treatments was due to enhancement of glucose clearance, and the effect of ascorbic acid was due to enhancement of insulin action.

Classes & activities awaiting you this winter at CWSC! You have fallen far, but this winter, we want to get you back on your feet. Refresh, Rise & Repeat: Grab A Cold One: Pre-Workout. Your first class of the day should focus on you and your pre-workout pick-me-up. Learn how to properly form a proper crow, sandbag, etc. and work to get you revved up before hitting the weights. Zumba or Soldering: Never lose the old posture or techniques with a different pose - such as hyperextensions. These focus more on a different movement that won't tire you out, but instead helps focus on your core and muscles. Hydrate! The body needs water to function. It also actually needs water to keep warm. This is especially important if you want to be the best you can be at CrossFit as cold-weather workouts will take more effort to avoid dehydration. Give the Core a Go: Core is life, and not just for the top ranked core lifters out there. The core is the center of your body, and when you are stronger and more flexible, you will be able to access the deep core area even more. Strength & conditioning programs are designed to strengthen and lengthen the muscles of the core, but a simple pushup or squat can do the same thing. Strength-mobility: This class is all about strengthening and stretching your muscles simultaneously. From piano bench's to skydivers, these exercises are tried and true. This class will pull in an element of mobility as the students are taught to bend and lift while attempting to isolate the target muscles. Ideally, we'll hit bottom, lift, and pull the bar off of the racks. Our second window will focus on side-to-side mobility and finishing in the rack. Mobility after strength-mobility will focus on freeing up stress on the spine, teaching you the "serve your core" mentality, and further rooting out the patterns of poor posture such as rolling your back and rounding your spine. Alright Body Program: Indulge yourself and learn how to train for our next WOD. We'll talk form and progressions as we learn new things everyday with these classes. For instance, this class teaches you how to incorporate drinking and eating on your run, and how to transition
