With the arrival of FIFA 22, Ultimate Team returns in improved form. Play up to four players at once, unlock rewards by completing challenges, and create your Ultimate Team squad. Add-ons and Packs can be purchased from the updated Ultimate Team store. I have an issue with my controller. I've noticed that my controller doesn't really like inside the outer edges of my keyboard. The edges make it impossible for the A button to perform its function. Also, the controller is triggered by the spinning wheel. So there's a huge delay in the game when I spin the wheel as opposed to click on the button. It might be because I'm using a PS3 or PS4. But these are just some things I have noticed. Some of you might have the opposite problem where you have a problem on the edges of the controller as well. But I would just advise on buying the wired version. 1. I started playing some hours ago, and I can't connect to EA's servers. I'm on mobile hotspot, so I may not be able to connect later. 2. From what I understand, the new PS4 version is not region free, which is a big disappointment to many, especially me. Which is why I consider this the worst version of the game. I can play FIFA with my PS4 but I can't connect to servers. 3. When I try to save a game, it only creates an object in my game, but my CPU usage is too high for it to create it in a game. So I have to disconnect and reconnect the game because the game crashed. I would say the save process is way too slow. 4. I also tried to play all offline mode but the player AI is fucking horrible. The player movements are terrible. They don't position themselves properly. They run around too much.'s no way I'm opening it. I have a nice bathrobe. It's just too ugly to wear in public. I would, but it's a little too out there for some people. There's some nice clothes in there, a well-cut suit for me, some nice shoes, socks, a shirt, pants, and underwear. I've got a pair of nice Italian slacks from early last year. I haven't worn them since. They're in the closet at the laundry room. They're not the kind of clothes one doesn't wear in a public facility. I've been meaning to lose that
