The mouse I currently own is a middle-of-the-road mouse, but it was often difficult to use without a desk. When I was at a friends house and went to hang up my bag, the mouse fell off the desk and I ended up breaking it. I'm looking for some type of display device that would allow a mouse to be docked to it, similar to how it's done with USB chargers for phones. So for example, USB cords come in two styles: ones that you plug into an outlet, and ones that plug into a wall. The second style requires that you first plug it in to the outlet, and then plug the cord that's connected to the outlet into the wall. Is there a similar mouse configuration
