Wild Times - Top Down Shooter, where the player dodging all kinds of dangers, fires back and performs various tasks, finding and improving his weapons throughout the game, getting bonuses and moving from one world to another. Control: Arrows - Move Z -Shooting Left X - Shooting Straight C - Shooting Right From Our Blog: Nathan Block had turned down an offer for $1M from FGC to make a game. He was rejected after a thread by FGC. All the way back in 2016. This is what he had to say back then: Please, no one treat this as a rant. Every game has good and bad aspects. This is mine, the bad points were negated by feedback. I have no idea what was in my head when I made this game. I am making another one and I want to put something different on. I am not going to treat the fanbase any more, they deserve better than this. The game is free but there are things that are unlockable. Move has a more recent game come out called 7 that shares similarities with Wild Times. What's the big deal? The big de first place. I just wish you could sell these games like an App Store title. No need for all this DRM nonsense. Would be so much easier for the person with the game. It would only take a small amount of work and you would make more money and they would get a fully working copy of the game. I can only imagine the number of piracy copies of that game that exist right now. Gauge. It's a near perfect copy of Geometry Wars. There are no real content differences from the original. Unless you are a Geometry Wars fan (which I am not), I just don't see what the big deal is

Racing Game Features: Players can upgrade their cars through the course of the game, unlocking more hardware to purchase in the process. As the players drift throughout the course of the game, they earn stars to be used at the end of the race to unlock cars, upgrade drivers, and do many other things. Overview Note: Stick with me or you will be sorry. This is a very advanced tutorial to help newcomers to the Drift Game genre. You will be going through a crash course in how to play the game and along the way you will learn a very important concept in the Game Theory? Drag racing is very much like the speed boat racing found on Lake Havasu, in the winter, when it gets too cold for the boat drivers. Motor boats have to race on the banks of Lake Havasu because the shallow waters of the lake make it impossible for them to race on the wide open waters of the open waters. Similarly, in drift racing the shallow waters cause a boat to be unable to race on the wide open waters of the open waters. Similarly, in drift racing the shallow waters cause a boat to be unable to race on the wide open waters. So here we have a boat that is racing around the open waters. The boat can drift up to 20-30 mph in the warm, dry air. However, when the lake begins to freeze over in the winter, the boat relies upon its boost (motor power) to push it through the water at speeds that put it in the yellow up to red lines. Once the water is frozen over, the boat is completely useless. This is what drift racing, just not in a cold, dry air. This is the new version of Drift Game Theory. Hints/Tips Notes: Don c9d1549cdd
