The aim of this study was to describe the development of cochlear implantation in Finland and to compare the present day results with those of the times when this intervention was first started. Retrospective cohort study. All persons implanted between 1980 and 1999 were identified from the registry of the Finnish Association of Persons with Hearing Loss (HUSKY). A total of 291 persons (54% men) were implanted at a mean age of 39 years. There was an overall increase in the implantation rate from less than 1000 per year between 1980 and 1982 to more than 5000 per year between 1995 and 1999. The age at implantation decreased from 45 to 29 years and the first intervention to the second and third years after co
