Auto aim .Modern technology has resulted in the development of an electric vehicle (EV) that is based on the electric motor-generator as the driving force. This is an EV that employs the electric motorgenerator as the driving force of the vehicle itself, and hence the vehicle itself produces no exhaust gas. One problem with the EV is that the battery that functions as the energy source requires a great deal of electric power and a great deal of electric energy, and the high-capacity energy storage
