Here's what some of our customers are saying about our software: SolarWinds Engineer's Toolset is the only program that I have found with a strong toolset. It has this rare ability of not only performing the tasks that I have asked of it, but it goes and does something else that I didn't know could be done. The software developer's website is a wealth of information as well as information on the version that I have downloaded. When something does not work properly, I find that the support line is very responsive with a helpful and friendly service agent, and I feel confident that any issue that I might have is handled to my satisfaction. Another nice thing about the service is that they have a very convenient user community site. It is easy to find and navigate, making even the most experienced of us feel at home. Through the site, I found a support engineer who was able to help me with a product issue that was eating my time. He was friendly and professional, and the issue was resolved. In one call, the customer service representatives were able to find a solution for my problem. Thanks for being so responsive! My only comment on this product is that the customer service is the best that I have ever experienced in the Software Industry. I live in New Hampshire. I had tried every pleasant from every other software company...so far none have worked. Then I stumbled upon Solarwinds' support. There is a major difference. They took the time to explain to me, they actually help you! Company "SolarWinds" has released new version of software - SolarWinds Engineer's Toolset, version 6.1.
